Dear Dr Burke

Your letter of 8th May 2009, addressed to the Private Secretary to HRH The Duke of Edinburgh, has been forwarded to this office in order that you may receive a reply from the University.

Several units within the University including the Human Resources Division and its Equality and Diversity section, the Disability Resource Centre and the Estate Management and Building Service, worked with DisabledGo in 2008 to develop the access guide to the University of Cambridge that is now promoted on DisabledGo's website. The University was pleased to be able to work with your company on this positive initiative which we hope will further assist the University in its aim to be a welcoming and inclusive Higher Education Institution.

The detailed information compiled by DisabledGo - now linked to our website - is, we believe, of great benefit to all visitors to this University, and particularly those with disabilities.

We are pleased to learn from your summary that DisabledGo is gaining significant recognition in the UK, and we wish you every success in your venture to offer this service to Universities overseas.

Yours sincerely
Matthew Moss
