To Whom It May Concern

The University of Manchester is Britain's largest single-site university with a proud history of achievement and an ambitious agenda for the future. Our mission is to make the University one of the leading universities in the world by 2015 and with some of the highest quality teaching and research and the broadest spread of academic subjects we are well on our way to achieving this ambitious vision.

Central to our ambitions are our Equality Schemes, including our Disability Equality Scheme, which enables us to plan, deliver and evaluate our actions with regards to meeting the needs of and promoting equality of opportunity for disabled people.

The University's Disability Support Office (DSO) supports disabled students to enable them to undertake their studies and enjoy a satisfying student experience whilst at the University of Manchester. The DSO also supports disabled staff to enable them to undertake their job role.

As one of the first Universities in the UK to work with DisabledGo to provide a professionally produced on-line access guide, The University of Manchester is pleased to be able to extend that provision with the addition of an interactive link into our campus guide. This will provide easily available access information for all. Such accessible information, that is well organised and credibly based on the accumulated experiences of thousands of disabled people, led us to appoint DisabledGo as the natural provider of this service.

Yours faithfully,

Elaine Shillcock
